Inline Plastics (Shelton, CT) meets the growing demand in the Grab & Go market with two innovative product solutions - SnackWare™ & PagodaWare™ PET containers.

Consumers are living increasingly active lifestyles and are looking for not only convenience when food shopping but also the assurance that the products they are buying are properly packaged. More and more, consumers want ready to go meals and snacks that they can eat at work, in the car or at school. The well-established, patented Safe-T-Fresh® product line provides both that confidence as well as convenience.

These single piece clamshells will eliminate the need for multiple SKUs, maximize warehouse space and eliminate the need for shrink bands or wrap-around labels—reducing the material & labor costs associated with the application. Processors will see increased efficiency, output and productivity throughout the packing process.

You can go anywhere with the new SnackWare™. The versatility these containers provide allows for fun snacking mixtures. It includes 3 different configurations ranging from 1, 2 and 4 compartments, with more options to come. The types of food combinations are without limit. No worries about food migrating from one cell to another; that was addressed with engineered raised barriers.

The new PagodaWare™ containers are unique. The sleek shape provides a 360° view of the contents and is available in 10 popular configurations (8–64 oz), with more underway. The SureGrip™ grab tab provides a positive, easy to open, user friendly experience. And as with all Safe-T-Fresh® products, the patented Safe-T-Gard® tamper evident, security tear strip hinge keeps food safe and secure.

Supermarkets, convenience stores and commissaries will appreciate how much better their food presents itself given the exceptional product clarity which encourages impulse sales.

All Safe-T-Fresh® containers are manufactured with a patented DPET material which is 100% recyclable, benefiting retailer and processors alike with environmentally responsible crystal clear packaging.
